TWINS SOAN PRODUCE OF LILLIPUTIAN HOBBY CRAZE . . . Mike and Bob Gulley, of San Antonio, Tex., soan produce of the newest hobby—Lilliputian models of old-time jaxies. Fringed surries and phaetons in the hobby division are beginning to compete with "big brothers" of a newer era in the interest of the public. These miniatures were on display in a downtown San Antonio hobby shop. Their authenticity of detail will be readily apparent to old-timers who remember such items.

On the School Scene

By Anne Huffman

This week is significant in respect to past history.

To the ancient Romans the fifteenth of March signified the ideas of March, and the date was associated with superstitious fear.

Cesar, the conqueror, was warned to beware of this date by the Roman soothsayer, but Caesar cast this nonsense aside, as it was not becoming to a conqueror. He was planning to be the ruler of the world! But it was on the idea of March that Caesar was killed by his friends, led by Brutus. His vain hopes for temporal power were thus shattered by his fickle friends.

Thursday, March 17, was St. Patrick's Day. St. Patrick lived in southwestern Britain in the troubled days when the Romans were abandoning the island to its fate, and before the English had appeared. He went to Gaul (now France). For some time he lived there, where he became a monk, and later he returned to his home in Britain.

After his return he dreamed one night that a man came to him with a paper bearing these words, "The Voice of the Irish," and at the same time he heard the Irish calling, "We pray thee, holy youth, to come and walk again amongst us as before."

Patrick decided that this was a missionary call to Ireland. He returned to Gaul, where he spent fourteen years in preparing for this work. He arrived in Ireland with the title of bishop and the pope's blessing, and began the work which was to make him the patron saint of the island.

It has been said that there "were no Christians in Ireland when Patrick began his work, and no pagans when he died." This is perhaps not strictly true, but he did much to establish Christianity firmly in the island, building churches and monasteries and converting the people.

It is believed by some that St. Patrick drove the snakes of Ire-

Getting Around Cedarville

Here and There—The papers have carried stories this past week on a speech President Truman made some time ago in which he used or rather referred to a person he disliked as a "S.O.B."

We don't have to stretch our imagination very far to surmise what those initials mean. It is quite regrettable that the man whom we have elected to the high office of president of our country finds himself so lost for words that he uses profanity, especially in the presence of women. This said that a person who uses profanity shows a lack of intelligence since "cuss" words are poor substitutes for the "King English." Because of his high position, the president of the United States sets an example for a great number of our citizens. Truman is very much aware of this fact since he capitalized on this particular item in his presidential campaign. The fact that he won the election when all called the so called experts predicted he would lose added to his popularity. It appears now as though his inadvertent slip of the tongue has lost many of his newly won friends. Generally speaking the American people do not make it a habit to use profanity and neither do they sanction its use. It will be interesting to wait and see just how easy it is for H. T. to let another "cuss" word slip. . . . One of the finest sports events that has taken place in our town this winter is the Gold Medal basketball tournament now in progress at Alford Gym sponsored by the Cedarville College Athletic department. This tournament is a round robin affair made up of independent amateur teams. These teams in many cases have not had many opportunities to play or pit their strength against other amateur teams, mainly for want of playing floor. We hope that Mendel Beattie, the Cedarville College Athletic director, will make the tourney an annual affair. It's a fine opportunity also for the participating players to experience the close play that is part of such a tourney. The winners will be awarded appropriate medals as will the runner-up team. Special awards will recognize outstanding individual ability and sportsmanship. If such tournaments as this were operated over the United States as a whole it might do much to curb both juvenile and adult delinquency. . . . There are two worthwhile drives in

Advertise for Bids on Greene Memorial Hospital

Another step toward construction of the Greene County Memorial hospital was taken by building commissioners Tuesday when they advertised for bids on the $1,214,000 project.

Meeting here Monday night, the building board, of which Myron R. Fudge, near Jamestown, is chairman set Tuesday, April 19, at 2 p. m. as the deadline for receiving sealed bids. The proposals, in duplicate form, will be received at the county auditor's office in the court house until the final date.

The board will meet immediately after the deadline to open the bids and consider the proposals. Representatives from the state health department will meet with the board at that time.

Drawings and specifications for the construction are available to interested contractors at the public health department's office in the court house basement. Copies of the specifications and blueprints also may be placed in Dayton and Cincinnati, building commissioners said. Additional details on the building plans may be obtained from Dan A. Carmichael, Columbus, architect in charge of the project.

Dates as to the beginning and ending of construction will be determined at the time the bids are opened, commissioners said.

Final federal approval of the project was given this week. This means the government will pay up to $404,666.66 of the total estimated cost of $1,214,000. Greene county voters in November, 1947, approved a $950,000 bond issue to provide the county's share.

Another meeting of the building board is planned in Xenia Friday night when Dr. A. J. Borowsky, chief of the hospital facility program in the state health department, and members of his staff will confer with the group on developments of the project.

Vest Places on All Tourney Team

Paul (Abie) Vest, Cedarville high school center, rated honorable mention on the all-district tournament basketball team picked by tourney officials, coaches, and sports writers following the event at the Xenia fieldhouse the past two week ends.

Tom Casey, New Vienna, and Gene Neff, Dayton, were given the forward spots, Andy Cluxton, New Vienna center, and Rusty Wambold, Phillipsburg, and Don Doty, Camden, were guards on the first five.

Tom Durnbaugh, Beaver, also rated honorable mention. In Vest's only tourney appearance against Dixie he hit the nets for 24 points to be top single game individual scorer.

Charles Coulter, Clifton road, near Yellow Springs, is recovering from injuries suffered recently in an accident on the L. R. Jacobs farm, near Yellow Springs.

Mr. Coulter, a farmer and carpenter, was thrown from a tractor when it ran off a barn bank bridge. He suffered a fractured leg, three broken toes and bruises. He has resided in the Cedarville and Yellow Springs communities the last thirty-five years.

BULL REELECTED

Karl Bull, former Cedarville Herald publisher, was reelected treasurer of the Ohio Newspaper association at the group's annual convention last weekend at Columbus. Mr. and Mrs. Bull and Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Miller were in attendance at the annual affair.

Easter Seal Campaign Started Here

A campaign to obtain funds to finance work among crippled children in this county was launched Thursday with the opening of the Easter Seal sale by the Greene County Chapter of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children.

The sale, being conducted entirely by mail, will continue through Easter Sunday. Letters, each containing 100 seals, were mailed this week to 12,000 Greene County residents. Self-addressed envelopes are enclosed in which they can return their contributions to seal sale headquarters in Xenia.

H. Paul McVay, of McVay's Store, 17 E. Main St., Xenia, is 1949 seal sale chairman. Of the proceeds obtained from the campaign, 75 per cent remains in Greene County to carry on work among crippled children and the other 25 per cent goes to the state society.

This marks the first year the drive has been conducted locally by the Greene County chapter which was organized recently with John L. Burtch, Beaver Creek township, as president.

Man Bound to Grand Jury for Manslaughter

John Hunter, 51, Yellow Springs, R. R. 1, was fined and jailed for drunken driving and ordered held for grand jury investigation under $2,000 bond on a second degree (involuntary) manslaughter charge in municipal court Friday noon.

Pleading innocent to both affidavits, filed as a result of a traffic accident in Yellow Springs last Saturday night in which Glenn L. Deaton, 66, Yellow Springs business man, was injured fatally, Hunter was found guilty on the driving while drunk charge on the basis of evidence submitted to Judge D. M. Aultman.

The jurist levied a fine of $250 and costs, sentenced him to six months in county jail and revoked his driving rights for five years, not subject to reinstatement by the state insurance liability clause.

Represented by Marcus Shoup, Xenia lawyer, the accused painter, waived examination on the manslaughter charge.

He is blamed for the accident by Yellow Springs police. Patrolman Estel D. Boers, who investigated with Chief Russell Bradley, filed the charges.

They said Hunter was the driver of a car which struck Mr. Deaton as he stood beside his parked auto on Xenia Avenue in the town's business district. Hunter was taken into custody at the scene.

4-H CLUB GIRLS MEET

Couple Ask $16,133 Damages in Suit Filed in Clark County

Oliver A. Stover and his wife, Irene M. Stover, of Cedarville, ask judgments against Paul A. Ellars, a minor, 1136 N. Lime-stone Street, Springfield, totaling $16,133 in companion suits filed last Wednesday in Clark county common pleas court.

Based on charges the defendant was negligent in an automobile accident involving himself and Mrs. Stover and that the amounts claimed comprise damages suffered by the plaintiffs.

Pre School Clinic to Be Held Monday

Preschool Conference for Cedarville will be held March 21, beginning at 9:00 a. m. in the auditorium of the school. Anyone who has a child or knows of a child who will enter school this Fall is asked to please get the name to Mr. Boyer.

At present there is a list of forty-seven but it is felt this is not complete and it is hoped that any additional names will be sent in at once.

These conferences are joint projects of the community and Health Department for the purpose of giving each prospective first-grader a better start by having a physical examination to determine what, if any, remediable defects are present and getting them corrected before school starts.

In the absence of an organized P. T. A. group to do the big job of volunteer services necessary, the Kensington Club has sponsored the Conference and at times enlisted the aid of the McKibben Bible Class.

Parents usually are given definite appointment times, but if anyone is not reached remember you are cordially invited to bring your child to the school, March 21.

Gold Medal Tourney Finals To Be Monday

The Gold Medal tournament at Cedarville college moves into the semi-final round tonight (Friday) while the finals will wind up the event on Monday night.

In second round games played Wednesday night the scores were: Robbie's Recreation 51, St. Paul 26; Fat Daddy All Stars 45, Harner Electric 44 (overtime); Ballingers 59, Main Auto 0 (forfeit); Englewood 31, Skaggs AC 29; Bert's Beer 65, Dayton Teddies 39.

In games finishing the second round and beginning the third round the games were Ballinger's vs. Main Auto, Reevesville vs. Yellow Springs Bantams, and Englewood vs. Bert's Beer.

Dairy Service Name Officers For Year

All officers and committee chairmen of the County Dairy Service Co-op were re-named for another year when the board of directors met at the Court House Thursday night.

The officers are Robert L. Thomas, Beaver Creek township; president; Harlan Butts, Miami township, vice president; Edman Moore, Xenia township, secretary; and John Stover, Cedarville township, treasurer.

Earl Ritenour, Ross township, will serve again as chairman of the artificial breeding committee. Other chairmen renamed were Myron Fudge, Silvercreek township, production testing; Mr. Butts, 4-H Dairy Club; and Herman Armstrong, Bath township, sanitation and disease control.

Milo Cooper, in charge of the artificial breeding program, reported twelve new members in the breeding program in February. A total of 177 breeding services were conducted during the month.

Glenn Charles, in charge of production testing, told the group there were thirty-eight herds on test last month. He announced plans for the annual herd evaluation school to be held in the Court House Assembly Room next Wednesday. Greene County farmers with herds on test will attend the school.

Plans for the coming year were discussed at the meeting.

Gill Bound to Grand Jury on Obtaining Money Falsely Friday

Raymond Gill, 32, Wabash, Ind., was bound over to the grand jury Friday by Municipal Judge D. M. Aultman on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Gill is charged with swindling Mrs. Mary O. Binegar, Jamestown, widow, of $850 for termite "extermination" services and treating trees.

Defense council permitted Gill to be bound over without further testimony after the case was continued from last Tuesday.

Gill has been free under $2,200 bond since his arraignment two weeks ago after he was arrested in Wabash and returned here. His bond was continued.

WE BREATHE AGAIN

With basketball prowess narrowing down to a limited and with most of us out of the final games, we are beginning to breathe normally again. Not only is basketball a school sport but it offers everybody an opportunity to share in its thrills. This year, as always, it is being shown that the best teams come often from smaller schools. That's what makes the sport so universally popular. "Our boys" may win the glory, the cups and the high honors, but the idea in mind of lining up a few representatives who won't support the bill in its present form.

PROUDLY WE HAIL

When we told publisher friends at the state convention about the school news we carry in our paper they expressed surprise that we could get the kind we get, and we detected a bit of envy in their voices. This makes us feel more appreciative of the support our high schools give us, for no newspaper has better school news than the one you are reading right now—thanks to splendid co-operation from the teachers and public.

WE ALL AGREE

The governor declares flatly that every detail of expense in state government that can be whittled down or out must be considered and the saving made. Every citizen in the state, except some one whose neck is nipped in the process, will heartily agree with the executive. Government spending is entirely too great both in the state and nation. To be healthy, to say nothing of conducting good business, all unnecessary spending be stopped.

THE NEW CHURCH

As the good folk of Grape Grove do everything, they did it well when they dedicated the new church building recently. Fine people out there; and a fine place of worship is a tribute to their character and their resourcefulness. The church adds to the value of the community, not only as a place to live but a good place to bring up children and to make them good citizens. Congratulations, again, neighbors!

THE NEW LOOK

"Why, you'd hardly know the old place!" This is the news that's going the rounds about the depot in the county seat. The old brick station was built for the Little Miami railroad in the long ago; then came the "Panhandle," and as a junction the station became more important. How long the old pot-bellied stove and the iron-bound benches had been in use only history could reveal. But the hand of modernity has stretched out and dealt kindly with the waiting room. There is a brand-new stove, with television attachment; a new floor covering as modern as day after tomorrow, inviting benches and new wall decorations. FRR means "Fuzzle to Realize it's the Railroad."

OUTLAW BOOING

Many schools, big and little, are trying to do basketball of the distasteful boogie. Big placards have been placed in gyms here and there asking that there be no boogie. In one of the country's largest universities insists that boogie stop. Good sportsmanship demands that players and spectators alike keep this in mind. It would be a great thing for the sport that has such fascination for the public could rid itself of this objectionable phase.

INCURABLE

The radio broadcasts some hope for every pain and pimple; for some there is no hope—our headache will be "simple."

SOCIALIZED MEDICINE

England is trying out socialized medicine. Free dosage without too much attention paid to the patient's explanation of what ails him, or how his pa had it before him, is the system. To get an idea of how it works all you need to do is remember how you stood in line and took your turn to get raton stamps for gasoline, and was told where to stand by a slip of a girl! That's the same idea.

IT'S A THOUGHT!

One of the big oil companies tells us that it costs the company nearly $600 every time anybody buys a new car. It would be so easy for 'em just to klick in a couple of more times and buy us all a new car—but maybe the "gubment" plans to do that in its cradle-to-the-grave program. That would hasten the program.

NO TURNPIKES

While everybody is delighted with the Pennsylvania turnpike, the 168-mile superhighway, constructed on a perfect grade and with grade crossings totally eliminated, yet Ohio's legislators are certain to disapprove building an extension of that famous road across Ohio. The cost of such a highway runs into astronomical figures—almost like an estimate of remodeling the White House! It is a spilled-milk reflection to remind ourselves that even the interest on our war debt would pay for super highways everywhere!

Col. Matt Winn, of Kentucky Derby fame, is 80 years old. Some folks have passed completely out at his show at whatever age they had attained when the race was over.

Leadership School

Lesson for March 20, 1949

IT TAKES more than a call of God to be a Christian leader. It takes study, it takes work. The call is necessary, of course, but it is not all. Jesus set the church an example called his Twelve; but he was not so foolish as to think that just because he had called them they were all ready to go out and take the lead. Jesus put them through what Dr. Foreman may be called the first Leadership Training School in the history of the Christian church.

Who Was Enrolled?

THE TWELVE Apostles were the training class. Not all Jesus' disciples were equal to it; perhaps some of them actually did not have the time. But these Twelve had already been set off from the others, not because they were better men, but in order to do more direct service in Christ's name. There was nothing formal about Jesus' training school.

It met wherever he was at the time—in a house, or by the roadside, or on a hill-top. There were no set hours, no textbooks, credits or diplomas.

Jesus kept it going to the very end, for even after the Resurrection, as Luke tells us (in Acts 1) he was still teaching his Twelve.

What Did They Study?

THERE WAS no printed circular, no bulletin, no prospectus or catalogue. All the "courses" amounted to just one thing: learning to do what Jesus was doing. To this day that is the aim of all Christian training. Mark and Luke mention at least four things Jesus' training-school students learned from him: preaching, healing the sick, feeding the hungry, and praying. It would not be quite true to say that part of what they learned was spiritual and part practical, for there is nothing more practical than praying as Jesus taught it, and Jesus never ministered to people's physical needs without touching their spirits too.

Many a person now in some hospital for the insane need not have gone there if he had had the help that a well-trained minister can give.

Ministers today are not taught how to turn miracles like the feeding of the 5,000; but knowing that people's physical well-being has a great deal to do with their spiritual welfare, the alert young Christian minister of today will be keenly interested in Christian social action.

How Did They Learn?

THE TWELVE learned by doing. It is the only way you learn any thing of a practical nature. Memorizing a textbook, memorizing rules, is not learning. You have learned how to do a thing only when you can do it. Of course you have to see it done, first. A boy on the farm learns to be a farmer by watching his father and helping him, more than from school courses in agriculture, useful as they are. There is nothing to take the place of apprenticeship under one who knows. So Jesus' Twelve watched him, listened to him, helped him, before they were trusted on their own.

Will It Still Work?

THE METHODS Jesus taught are just as effective today as they ever were. Not all churches nowadays follow his line to the letter; in fact, most churches do not. But the basic principles which Jesus drilled into his first traveling representatives are still good. One is faith.

Missionaries in the 20th Century are required to take a great deal more equipment with them to their fields than one pair of shoes, one cane and an empty purse. Yet who can deny that any missionary of any church, in China or in Korea today, must live by faith from day to day?

Another of Jesus' principles was direct contact. People are not won to Christ chiefly by sermons from pulpits, but by in-home contacts. Ministers know this; missionaries know it; Sunday school teachers ought to know it too. Getting acquainted with your boys and girls at their homes, and being a friend to them there, is what will give your Sunday teaching its greatest force and success.

CLARENCE J. BROWN Writes With a Buckeye In Congress

The signing of the North Atlantic Security Pact is now scheduled to take place in Washington the first week in April. The Pact will not be submitted to the Senate for ratification as a treaty, as required by the Constitution, until after it has been signed by the nations entering into it. Last week Secretary of State Acheson submitted a rough draft of the Pact to the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate in executive session. Other Members of the Senate who must vote on ratifying the Pact will not be advised as to what it contains until after it has been signed.

While the provisions of the North Atlantic Security Pact are still considered a "top secret," it is rumored the signatories thereto will be bound by the Pact for a period of ten years; that the Pact may be extended an additional ten years; that the Pact may be extended an additional ten years; that signatory nations will be bound to defend any Pact nation attacked by an aggressor; that an attack on occupational troops of any nation will be considered an aggression against such nation; that the United States will furnish certain military supplies and other aid to its allies; and, finally, the Constitutional requirement that only Congress can declare war will be recognized, although actually American entry into the Pact will bind this nation morally to go to war to protect the other signatories in case of attack.

President Truman spent last week vacationing at Key West, Florida, while tired and angry Members of the Senate continued the famous filibuster against a proposed change in the rules which would permit early consideration of the Administration's civil rights legislative program. Before leaving Washington he submitted to the Congress two messages in which he called for reorganization of the National Defense Establishment and of the State Department along the lines recommended by the Hoover Commission. Under the reorganizational plan for the National Defense Establishment the Secretary of National Defense would become in fact, as well as in name, the top man in our national defense setup, while the Secretaries of War, Navy and Air Forces would become secondary officials acting as assistants to the Defense Secretary.

H. R. 2945, a bill introduced by Representative Murray of Tennessee at the request of the Postmaster General, is attracting a great deal of attention both in and out of Congressional circles. Under its provisions learning postage rates will be increased. While first class mail and air mail rates would remain the same, cost of postal cards would be increased from one cent to two cents. Second class mail rates would be from two to five times higher than first class. Third class mail would be increased from 50 per cent to 200 per cent. Fourth class mail rates would also be increased. If the proposed new postal rates are put into effect many small newspapers and magazines will probably be forced out of business, while others will have to heavily increase subscription and advertising rates. It is charged the proposed increases in third class mail rates will seriously injure business which must depend upon direct mail advertising, and will interfere with the sale and distribution of books. The Postmaster General insists the new rates are necessary to make the Post Office Department self-supporting. The postal service, however, has actually been self-supporting for only a very few years in the nation's history. Past experience has proven that whenever mail rates are made too high the American people quit using that particular class of postal service, with the result Post Office Department deficits are increased rather than decreased.

The Treasury Department has just filed with the Congress a report which should be of great interest to those who believe the well-to-do are not paying their full share of taxes. The report shows that only 4.23 per cent of those paying taxes have incomes of more than $100,000 a year, but that this 4.23 per cent actually pay 51.27 per cent of all income taxes, while the remaining 95.77 per cent of all income taxpayers pay 48.73 per cent of the total income tax collected. In other words, out of the fifty-two million six hundred thousand persons filing Federal income tax returns in 1942, two million two hundred and twenty-seven thousand paid more than one-half the total tax collected. Total income taxes collected for the year, the report states, was just over sixteen billion dollars. Ninety-four Americans reported incomes of more than one million dollars each.

Two prominent Members of Congress died suddenly last week—Senator Melville J. Broughton of North Carolina, former Governor of that State, and Representative Sol Bloom of New York, Chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Both suffered heart attacks.

Informed sources are reporting that a number of changes can be expected in President Truman's official family within a few weeks as a result of the expected resignation of the Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, and Secretary of War Royall. Secretaries Snyder and Sawyer, along with Secretary of Defense Forrestal, who resigned effective March 31, have been considered the conservative members of the President's Cabinet.

Meanings, like things, change as time goes on. For instance, "manufacture" means "to make by hand."

The Clinton county Farm Bureau Co-op reported business in excess of $2,451,000 for 1948.

Efficient Fertilizer Use Boosts Yields

Good Soil Management Must Aid Plant Food

Every ton of fertilizer can be boosted or used more efficiently, boosting crop yields, at the same time. Many farmers, says Middle West Soil Improvement committee, use fertilizer as a crutch. They try to make it substitute for good management practices. They put plant food in the soil without making sure the plant can send out its roots to use it.

Fertilizer is essential in giving the soil plant nutrients to feed crops. But fertilizer can't do the whole job. It must be teamed with other practices that build and maintain soil structure and keep the top soil "nailed down."

The soil needs good structure so roots can grow and reach out for plant food. Roots need air and water to live. When a soil is packed down and tight, there is no room for the air and water needed by roots and plants for high crop production. The way to build soil structure is to grow legumes and grasses regularly in the rotation. These legumes make a thick layer of good soil.

They add organic matter. Such soil has plenty of air space. Water soaks in quickly and more of it is held. Weak, scattered stands of legumes won't build soil structure. For strong, leafy stands and vigorous roots, the legumes need phosphate and potash that can be gotten in commercial fertilizer. Getting thick stands isn't the whole story, either. All these crops can't be cut for hay or grazed close and still be expected to build the soil. At least a part of these crops must be turned back to the soil.

Private Life of Bossy

In the current craze for dissecting private lives even Bossy is not immune. The inevitable probe comes up with these statistics: Bossy grazes only seven and a half hours daily, regardless of how much feed she gets. She does 60 per cent of her grazing during daylight hours, 40 per cent at night. She spends five whole days eating at a rate of 50 to 70 bites per minute. She chews her food seven hours a day and spends 12 hours lying down, at nine different times. While grazing, she travels two and a half miles in the daytime and one and a half at night. She drinks 10 times a day.

Erosion Takes Alarming Toll of Good Crop Land

Erosion is taking an increasingly alarming toll of good crop land in the United States. Estimates by the department of agriculture indicate that about 100 million acres of once good crop land have been ruined or nearly ruined for profitable cropping by erosion, another 100 million acres have been badly damaged and still another 100 million acres are eroding too fast. There are now approximately 400 million acres of good crop land in the U. S., including acreage now in crops as well as about 100 million acres that need clearing, drainage, irrigation or other improvement. All but about 7 1/2 million acres of this 400 million acres are subject to erosion unless protective measures are adopted.

Planting of Windbreak Will Improve Farmstead

Ranked as a major farmstead improvement project, planting of a windbreak around farm buildings not only improves the appearance of the farm but also saves fuel and gives wind protection to the buildings and livestock. In addition to the regular windbreak on the north and west sides of farmstead, many farmers also are planting a garden windbreak on the south and west of the garden.

Some Boys To "Tune" Your Piano, Mr. President!

Lowell Fress Writes from the Legislature

The law-making mill grinds slowly and the present General Assembly is no exception. After two months of work, the current legislature has sent only two bills to the Governor for his signature. However, it usually takes about two months for a new Legislature to settle down to business. Regardless of how much speed the leaders desire and urge speed, the old Legislature will just won't get down to work much faster. Clear lines of thought and action have to become fairly definitely established.

The wise ones, however, apparently have taken a somewhat different tack this season than usual to get controversial measures passed. Generally, these are kept in the background until the "administration program" is well on its way to enactment. But this year some of the non-controversial bills have been brought forward first.

After working 37 legislative bills covering a period of ten weeks, this Assembly is apparently about one-third of the way toward final adjournment.

The biggest headache for the lawmakers hasn't even been touched constructively as yet. That's the problem of reconciling revenues, the state will receive and the appropriations the spending agencies want. The administration's budget and biennial appropriation bill will probably not reach the Legislature until April. The budget was originally scheduled for March 15th. Changing of the state's fiscal year, which will involve preparing a budget to cover two and one-half years - 1949, 1950 and the first half of 1951 - may reasonably be expected to cause some delay.

The initiated petition permitting factory coloring of margarine was reconsidered on Monday night in the Senate, and passed 18 to 14. The fight on this question was resumed in the House on Wednesday, when our Reference Committee gave the bill to the Industry and Labor Committee, which was objected to by opponents of the measure on the ground that this Committee was prejudiced. I believe that this was a statement of fact, and I also believe that the same objection could be raised against the reference to the Agriculture Committee where the opponents wanted to route it. In the confusion resulting from the vote which was first reported as having defeated the Reference Committee by a vote of 65 to 64, it was found that one member's vote had been incorrectly reported and the final tabulation was 65 to 65, or a tie, and the Speaker declared the motion lost. The fuss was continued Thursday morning when the Journal was read for approval, but after the parliamentary wrangle was over, the bill was placed for consideration in the House Industry and Labor Committee, where it will rest for a short time.

The other controversial measure we received from the Senate this week is the Toll Road proposal. This is a decision which is irrevocable. Most of our legislation here can be changed by following Legislatures, but if we pass legislation authorizing toll roads which will set aside a strip of land 200 feet wide across Ohio with its divided highway strips made of cement, together with the necessary over-passing and under-passing of existing free highways, and future developments in transportation, as exemplified by the conveyor belt system from Lake Erie to the Ohio River and would have in our state a real air transportation, should revolutionize truck transportation, we unprofitable white elephant. I shall be glad to hear the pros and cons on this subject.

Six Greene County Farmers To Be Honored

In recognition of their achievement as farm account record keepers during the past 15 to 20 years, the degree of Certified Farm Accountant will be conferred on six Greene County farmers at Ohio State University during Farm and Home Week.

The six men to be honored are: John W. Collins and Meryl Stormont of Cedarville township; Charles A. Bickett and J. M. Bickett, New Jasper township; G. H. Thomas, Sugar Creek township; and Robert Thomas, Beaver Creek township.

Certificates will be awarded at a banquet given by the Ohio Bankers Assn. Wednesday evening, March 23. All of the men have kept the Ohio Standard Farm Account Book in cooperation with the local Extension Service.

Each year they have attended the annual county summary school, following which their records were turned over to Lytle Barnes, OSU Farm Management Extension Specialist for further analysis and summary. The information from their books which has been used in the preparation of various types of farm summaries since 1935, has furnished comparisons of value to the co-operating farmer and for teaching material.

ON THE SCHOOL SCENE

Home Economics teachers of the county are invited to attend this class.

Last Thursday Mrs. Ridgeway attended a Home Economics Meeting in Tipppecanoe. The meeting was held in the high school building. Miss Woodward from the State Department had charge of the meeting.

The Adult Education Class of the Home Ec department celebrated two wedding anniversaries recently.

On February 21, Mrs. Fred Dean, of the Adult Education Class, was surprised when the group served decorated cake and coffee honoring her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

On March 14 Mrs. Joe Parker was surprised by the group serving cake and coffee, honoring her twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Mr. William Lister took flash pictures of the group as they were being served.

"Money at Work"

Views for this movie were taken of the New York stock exchange, the center of all industrial activity in the United States.

Interesting details shown were the workings of this famous exchange and its system of connection with centers of industry all over the country.

C. H. S. Boys Attend Sale

Last Wednesday Roger Collins and Richard Strickland attended a hereford dispersal sale at East Liverpool, Ohio.

The boys enjoyed the trip although it was bad weather for traveling considering the road hazards in that region, steep hills and curves.

The sale was particularly interesting for the bidding was lively. Cattle were selling for high prices, most of the entries being from the best breeds in the country.

For example, the high figure of the sale was $2500, brought by a bull from the main herd; the next highest figures were $1800 and $1200, brought by bulls from other herds.

Small heifers were selling for $400 and $500. Many cow-and-calf combination sales averaged about $810.

New Pupil

Cedarville High School is glad to welcome another new pupil to the Junior Class. She is Christine Stegall from New Morefield, Ohio.

Freshmen Win Tournament

By downing the Juniors and seniors, the freshmen succeeded in winning the inter-class tournament. In the freshman-junior game the victors clinched the contest by scoring five points in the final two minutes, to win 14 to 9.

In the last game the freshmen out-fought and out-shot the cold seniors to come out on the long end of an 18 to 6 score.

Officials for the games were Mr. Walker and Mr. Boyer.

C. H. S. Athletes Have Varied Interests

During the past cage season the twelve boys who composed our varsity team have represented what we might term a "Who's Who" in reference to their activities in connection with basketball.

However, it is interesting to note that the same boys might constitute a part of a "Who's Who" of achievement in other lines of activity for the C. H. S. school year of 1949.

For instance, in the music department we find that most of the boys have participated actively.

Don Chesnut served as inter-locutor this year in the annual "Red and White Minstrel" given in November. Four other boys had prominent parts as end men: Doug Galtice, Bill Fife, Jack Irvine, and Cletus Fredericks.

Bill Heidorn, Don Turner, and Don Heidorn sang in the chorus. Cletus Fredericks and Jack Irvine are active members of the band, playing the bass horn and baritone respectively.

The high school mixed vocal quartette has for two of its members Don Chesnut and Cletus Fredericks. Both these boys are practicing solos they will sing at the District Audition in Springfield this month.

Three varsity members rank high in scholastic standing: Don Chesnut, Don Turner, and Bill Fife all have a "B" average, or above, for the year.

Jim Luttrell has been active as a member of the F. F. A., and holds the office of News Reporter for this organization.

Along the dramatics line all three of the senior boys took prominent parts in the Junior and Bill Fife and Bill Heidorn Class Play, "Almost Eighteen" have recently been selected for parts in the senior play, Don Chesnut, Don Turner, and Cletus Fredericks had parts in their junior play earlier this year.

Many of the boys have been chosen by their classmates to serve as their officers for different years. This year Bill Fife holds the office of Vice President for the senior class and Don Turner is treasurer of his class.

Jim Parker serves as president of the class of '51.

In the spring sports, baseball and track, we will find many of these same boys going out again for new records—Margie Brad-fute.
